

Use of the glue composition TachoComb in forming the portosystemic anastomosis. [Russian]

Authors: Akilov K.A., Deviatov A.V., Ibadov R.A., Zainutdinov U.I., Ikramov A.I.

Publication Date: 2001

Abstract:

The Tachocomb plates were used by the authors in 15 patients for forming the proximal splenorenal anastomosis and selective decompression of the portal system. The data of sonography have shown the valuable functioning of the shunt in all the patients within the period from 6 months to 3 years. The proposed method provides reliable hemostasis during operation and prevents thrombosis of portosystemic anastomoses.